JAMES STIRLING INJURED. Thrown Into the Street by a Runaway -Receives Severe Bruises.

James Stirling, the merchant who lives at 340 East Fifth South street, figured prominently in a runaway this morning in which he played a close game with death. He was driving in his coal oil wagon on State street when his horse became frightened and started up the street at the top of his speed. Mrs. Desky, who was sitting in a light wagon in direct line of the runaway, saved from an accident, might have proved serious by the time ly assistance of W. W. Calder, of the Calder firm, who very quickly moved her horse out of the way.

Mr. Stirling was thrown out of the wagon onto the paved street, in front of the Studebaker Implement house. He was severely cut about the face and over his right eye. His injuries are not serious unless some internal derange ment has been caused, which is not thought to be the case

FIRE ON THIRD SOUTH. Photographic Supply House Considers ably Damaged This Afternoon.

This afternoon some Inflammable material in the developing room of G. M. Warwick & Co., photographer's supply house at No. 2 east Third South caught fire and did a great deal of damage to the contents of the place. It is said that the fire was caused by dropping a lighted eigarette on the floor which ig-nited some chemicals and tar paper An alarm was sent in at once.. Station No. 1 responding. The fire was in the center of the building and did more damage to the contents than the build-ing. The total loss cannot be estimated at this time.

ANOTHER FIRE TODAY.

Late this afternoon a fire alarm came in from Ninth North and Eighth West streets, where some frame buildings were on fire. The engine from No. 1. and other apparatus from the West Side station responded to the alarm. The exact nature of the fire could not be learned before press time.

granamananavanamananana JUDGE TIMMONY'S COURT.

Steve Shurtliff a laborer from Murray was up on the charge of disturbing the peace, although the evidence showed that he was guilty of asrault and battery, if anything. Last evening, while under the influence of liquor, he rang for a messenger at one of the boxes, and when the boy appeared, he re-fused to pay him. After squabbling over the price for some time he pulled a knife from his pocket and struck at the boy. He then ran down the at the boy. He then ran down the street and Officer Lincoln stepped in frent of him to head him off. but Shurtliff made a pass at the Officer. Lincoln hit him a blow on the head with his club and then took him to the

"This man is not guilty of disturbing the peace and is discharged," said Judge Timmony. George Barton evidently considered it funny to be in the police court on the charge of drunkenness, as he laughed a great deal and looked tickled to death. "You're too funny," said Judge Timmony, "and it will cost you

George Murray was arrested on the charge of vagrancy. Officer Smith tes-tified that he saw him begging from a couple of men. Murray said he was on his way to Leadville and the court allowed him to go,

J. C. Wilcox, a bartender in a Main street saloon pleaded not guilty to the charge of assaulting and beating his wife but the evidence disclosed other-wise and he was convicted. It appears that his wife went into the saloen last and because she would not eave at the commands of her husband he struck her and then selzed her by the throat. The case was very brief and judge Timmony sentenced him to 100 days at jabor and a fine of $80. Wilcox was defended by Attorney John-son who gave notice of appeal.

FEDERAL COURT.

The case of the Red Wing Gold Mining company vs the Queen Fire Insur-ance company, was terminated today defendant according to instructions from the court. The defendant was be-ing sued for $5,000, the amount of the policy on the plaintiff's mills, which was burned down.

ENGINEERING CONTRACTOR OF CONT MR. ROOT'S CIPHER KNOCK. How Senator Foraker Got Angry and

Happened to Give Right Number. Secretary Root has adopted a certain cipher knock without which magic sesame the doors of his office in the war department remain closed to visitrs after 2 o'clock each day.

The new scheme worked like a charm, and senators, representatives, tourists, and other unwelcome callers have gone up against the door and knocked till because they did not know the secret code. Since the lockout has been placed at 2 o'clock instead of 3 the casualties have been even greater, although no cabinet officer has fallen a victim since the memorable occasion when Secretary The other day, however, Schator Foraker triumphed over the door without the faintest knowledge of the open sesame, and he has been chuckling over his victory ever since. The countersign knock has by this time become a matter of notoriety to congressmen, so many of them having fallen victims to it, Acrdingly, when Mr. Foraker arrived at the war department and found the doors locked, he knew what it meant, and frowned. The stories his colleagues had told of their vain efforts to learn the countersign flashed across his mind. He has taken pains to get there before 3 o'clock so as to avoid the usual de-feat, and yet the doors were locked. He knew that behind it were three sturdy colored men, who would listen complacently to his futile knocks and never stir toward the doorknob. Nay, more, they would probably grin.

But Mr. Foraker is not one to give in easily. He frowned again, bit his ap and dashed his fist ferociously against the door. Then he listened and thought he heared a faraway chuckle on the other side. His scowl grew deeper and he rattled the doorknob impotently, conscious that a group of newspaper men, sworn to secrecy about the cor-rect fraternity knock, were regarding him gravely and that the secretary's men were chuckling on the other side, Then Mr. Foraker stepped away and thought for a moment. His anger overcame him, and he decided to return and give a few hammers on the door just to xpress his opinion of it. Accordingly he raised his fist and gave it-it would never do to tell how many knocks he gave, or in what way he gave them, but

As the last knock rang out an answering kunckle sounded on the inside. Mr. Foraker, deeming this mere sarcasm, hit the door again. To his in-tense astonishment it flew open and a bowing attendant stood before him, inviting him to the secretary's presence. He had accidentally hit on the right ock. As for the attendant, who had supposed it to be a war department clerk, he was dumfounded.

he knocked in an unusual way. This was simply because he was angry.

Walk right in, senator," he gasped. And as the senator vanished in the secretary's room he caught the words: "How did he ever learn that knock? Mr. Foraker came out of the secretary's room beaming all over, after a most satisfactory interview. He has done something that few other visitors have accomplished. Only one thing bothers him now-he wishes he could remember that knock.-Washington
